YOSHIYUKI SADAMOTO

The way she looks, the way she moves—the graceful beauty of her form. There is nothing like a sports car. Invest your time, money and affection in one and you will get guaranteed rewards.

By contrast, relationships often lack that promise of exhilarating speed, nimble maneuverability, and elegant bodywork.

Still, I admit I have an unfathomable fascination with romance—and whether your object of affection be a pop star on TV or a two-dimensional drawing, you may count upon the pitiful genetic programming of that degenerate creature called man to rise to the fore, hence my careless life of cars, women and manga. All that's missing is alcohol. You never know; perhaps my laid-back ethic would be better suited for the Caribbean.

15 : MARDUK AGENCY

14 : UNITED NATIONS

Like NERV itself, the even more obscure Marduk Agency is supposedly an organization established by the United Nations' secret instrumentality of Men Committee, under its chairman, Lorenz Kiel. The founding date of the Marduk Agency is unknown. The purpose of Marduk is to find and identify those fourteen-year-old "Children" able to "synchronize" with and hence pilot the Evangelion units. At this point in events, four have been found: in order, the First, Rei Ayanami; the Second, Asuka Langley Soryu; the Third, Shiori Hara; and the Fourth, Toji Sushiro. Records indicate that the Marduk Agency is a vast concern, with connections to a family of 308 international enterprises. However, NERV's Ryoji Kaji, acting as a double agent for the Japanese Ministry of the Interior, maintains that he has evidence that Marduk is nothing but a vast series of bluffs, and the truth about the selection process lies not with Marduk, but with the school all the Children attend.

"Marduk" was the ruler of the gods worshipped by ancient Babylon, the city-state whose armies in 586 B.C. destroyed the original Temple of Solomon in Jerusalem and then exiled the Jews from their homeland during the forty-eight-year "Babylonian Captivity." This otherwise obscure detail may connect to the instrumentality of Men committee. The Dead Sea Scrolls consulted by the committee for their prophecies are believed by many scholars to have been written by the Essene community of Jews—a community which is thought to have fled its origins during the Babylonian Captivity.

An international organization of sovereign states, established in the immediate aftermath of the Second World War in 1945 with its headquarters in New York City. Originally composed of the victorious Allied Powers, the chartered purpose of the UN was to promote world peace, security and cooperation in the post-war world. The organization had come to include nearly all countries by the end of the century.

The discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls took place against the background of the UN partition of Israel and Palestine as separate entities, and it was a member of the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization, Captain Philippe Lippens, who brought in Roland de Vaux, director of the Ecole Biblique, a French Catholic theological school in Arab East Jerusalem, to oversee research on the scrolls; he remained director of the project until his death in 1971. It was de Vaux who discovered the fragments of the Book of Enoch in 1952.

The Antarctic Treaty of 1958, which suspended the claims of any individual nation to that continent, opening it up to extensive research, was written to "further the purposes and principles embodied in the Charter of the United Nations." It was the United Nations that investigated and published the official explanation of the Second Impact in 2002, claiming it resulted from a meteor strike. The UN gained in the aftermath of that catastrophe a heretofore unseen level of power and influence that made it, for the first time, an agency capable—if it deemed so necessary—of action independent of the major surviving world governments. Of these governments, that of Japan appears the most susceptible to UN influence (although the mistrust and rivalry between the two organizations is also evident). The headquarters of the 21st century United Nations is in fact now in Japan's own capital of Tokyo-2, formerly called Matsumoto City.

16: SYSTEMA SEPHIROTICUM

This occurred notoriously with the chief editor of the Dead Sea Scrolls research project himself, Harvard Divinity School's Dr. John Strugnell, who was dismissed from his position after voicing supersessionist views about Judaism in a November 9, 1990, interview with the Israeli newspaper HaAretz. Supersessionism is when believers in newer religions based on Judaism (for example, religions such as Christianity, founded c. 27 A.D. and Islam, founded 610 A.D., both of which regard the God with whom the Jewish patriarch Abraham made a covenant in c. 1850 B.C. as also being their God) express the idea that their new religion "supersedes," "completes," or "corrects" an original Judaism that is now irrelevant. Another extreme example of the co-opting of Jewish revelation to justify a movement or program are the views of present-day sects such as the Christian Identity movement, who seek to write Jews out of their own history, claiming that "White, Anglo-Saxon, Germanic and kindred people" were the actual people of Abraham's covenant and that modern Jews are somehow imposters.

This millennia-old interest in Jewish concepts and thought has included conventional religious practice as well as esoteric ritual, and has included not only figures regarded as mystics but philosophers such as the psychologist C.G. Jung. However, one of the earliest non-Jews known to seek occult knowledge from the Kabbalah was the mysterious Jesuit scholar Athanasius Kircher (1602-1680). He drew the particular diagrammatic interpretation of the Kabbalah that appears on the ceiling of Gendo's office, and gave it the Latin name "Systema Sephirothicum" (System of the Sephiro). Kircher drew controversial, syncretic associations between Christian teaching and the Kabbalah, which had by this time already existed separately for centuries as a Jewish discipline. It is of course also important to bear in mind that the long history of Judaism has included within its own adherents a full range of interpretations of Kabbalah, no less than debate over everyday questions of morals, ethics, practices, and beliefs, with differences that continue to the present day.

However, the patterns does accurately describe fundamental Jewish Kabbalistic beliefs: to wit, that the ten "sephiroth" [the word, which is the original Hebrew, is an ancestor of the English "cipher"] shown in the diagrams, are attributes of God, linked together by a complex pattern that serves also as a model, map, schematic and code for the totality of Creation; thereby, through its study, all knowledge of Creation and God can eventually be revealed and understood by human beings.

For this to happen, in Kabbalah, is in fact the purpose of existence itself, as Kabbalists believe that Creation—where One made many—occurred because "God wished to behold God," and therefore, "Face must behold Face." Only when our knowledge of Creation—including its experiences and possibilities as brought about by free will—is complete, will all existence be reunited with God.

Inscribed on the ceiling (and floor, in a different form) of Commander Ikari's office, are diagrams of Creation as conceived within the ancient Judeo-mystical tradition known as Kabbalah. It is important to note that because of the antiquity and basic primacy of Judaism and Jewish writings within the Western (and also Islamic) theological tradition, historically, many non-Jews have attempted to adapt, or co-opt, such to their own systems of belief or practice. While this has often been done without malign intent, it has also often taken on an expression that could be characterized as anti-Semitic.

GENDO IKARI, AGE 48

Shinji's father. This ruthless and enigmatic man is the guiding force behind the development of NERV's Evangelion system. He is also the man entrusted to carry out the even more secret Instrumentality Project. Gendo was an absent father, leaving Shinji's upbringing to the boy's aunt and uncle.

MISATO KATSURAGI, AGE 29

Captain Katsuragi is the chief tactician for NERV, responsible for planning and guiding Evangelion missions against the Angels. She has forced Shinji to move into her apartment in an attempt to "fix" his "attitude"....

RITSUKO AKAGI, AGE 30

Technical supervisor for NERV's Project E (Evangelion). Dr. Akagi is a polymath genius who rode the wave of scientific revolution following the cracking of the human genetic code at the end of the twentieth century. Her disciplines include physics, biotechnology and computer science.

RYOJI KAJI, AGE 29

Intelligence agent working for NERV, although its senior personnel know that he is also spying for the Japanese Interior Ministry. It has also been suggested that Kaji is secretly working for a third party, SEELE. Despite his handsome, cool exterior, Kaji regards himself as weak, his life haunted by a youthful betrayal.

SHINJI IKARI, AGE 14

Shinji was the "Third Child" chosen to pilot the monstrous Evangelion series, biomechanical combat units developed by the secret UN paramilitary agency known as NERV. Resentful of his father and desperate for his approval, Shinji climbed into the entry plug of Eva Unit-01 to do battle with the enigmatic Angels.

REI AYANAMI, AGE 14

Rei is the "First Child" to be chosen to pilot an Evangelion. While piloting Eva Unit-01, she was severely wounded while fighting the Angel Sachiel during the same battle in which Shinji arrived at Tokyo-3.

ASUKA LANGLEY SORYU, AGE 14

A US citizen of mixed Japanese and German ancestry, Asuka is a product of eugenic breeding. Selected to begin training as an Eva pilot from a very early age, Asuka is an excellent fighter, but she struggles with traumatic memories of her childhood.

KAWORU NAGISA, AGE 14?

Kaworu introduces himself to NERV as the "Fifth Child." SEELE has sent him to NERV directly, not bothering to go through the Morokai Agency. But as NERV keeps the First Angel, Adam, so has SEELE kept the last, Tabris, the true name and identity of Kaworu Nagisa.

SOUND EFFECTS GLOSSARY

The sound effects in this 3-in-1 edition of Neon Genesis Evangelion have been preserved in their original Japanese format. To avoid additional lettering cluttering up the panels we have provided this list of sound effects (FX). Each FX is listed by page and panel number, so for example 6-5 would mean the FX is on page 6 in panel 5. If there is a third number, it means there is more than one FX in the panel—6-5-1 and 6-5-2 for example. The transliteration is given, followed by the English translation/approximation.
